12 The defendant in error hereby moves this court
13 to compel the plaintiff government to immediately 14 provide to following deficiencies from their indictment and 15 pleadings:

16 [ADC Doc. 5] FRCrP § Rule 5(f); FRCrP § Rule 16(a)(1)(E)); Utah Criminal Rule 16,

18 Giglio, for an order to compel the Government to disclose and permit the Defendant in-error to 19 inspect and copy and/or subject the below-described tangible (original) documents objects which 20 are in the possession (or reasonably available) to the prosecutor (s) for the United States of America.

21 The Government prosecutor(s) in-error have a duty to provide exculpatory information
22 the show or tend to show the Defendant is innocent or not guilty of the charges against him and 23 includes the duty to disclose any evidence that would exonerate<sup>2</sup> or excuse the Defendant in- 24 error of all charges.

25
26 <sup>2</sup>Exonerate. To show or state that someone or something is not guilty of something:

10       1. **Prosecution to Defense Discovery** The prosecutor, upon written request, must 11 provide the defense with details about the offense, any prior criminal record of the defendant, 12 documents, and tangible objects related to the case, reports of examinations or tests, and a list of 13 potential witnesses.

14       **Defense to Prosecution Discovery:** The defense must provide the prosecution, upon 15 a written request or court order, with documents and tangible items that they plan to use in their 16 defense, results from any tests or examinations conducted, and a list of witnesses detailing their 17 expected testimony.

18       Court cases often clarify the interpretation and application of discovery rules. They might 19 limit or extend the right of parties to access certain information.

8       The prosecution has a duty to provide "exculpatory evidence" to the defense – i.e., 9       evidence that might exonerate the defendant or reduce their punishment. In Brady, the United 10      States Supreme Court held "that the suppression by the prosecution of evidence favorable to an 11      accused upon request violates due process where the evidence is material either to guilt or 12      punishment, irrespective of the good faith or bad faith of the prosecution." Id. at 87, 83 S.Ct.
13      1194. The Supreme Court later expanded this principle by placing a duty on the prosecution to 14      disclose material evidence favorable to a defendant even in the absence of a request by the 15      accused. United States v. Agurs, 427 U.S. 97, 107, 96 S.Ct. 2392, 49 L.Ed.2d 342 (1976). The 16      duty to disclose applies to substantive as well as impeachment evidence. United States v. Bagley, 17      473 U.S. 667, 676, 105 S.Ct. 3375, 87 L.Ed.2d 481 (1985).

18       The federal court is a court of special or limited jurisdiction. Thus, the facts have to be 19      alleged that establish the specific venue and jurisdiction of the federal court in the state of Utah.
20      These facts determine exactly where the locus delecti<sup>3</sup> determines the vicinage<sup>4</sup> or venue<sup>5</sup> for 21      trial by jury of your peers.

22
23      <sup>3</sup>Locus delicti.(loh-kəs də-lik-tl) [Latin "place of the wrong"] (18c) The place where an offense was committed; the place where the last event necessary to make the actor liable occurred. Cf. lex loci delicti under LEX LOCI.

24      "When a statute does not indicate where Congress considered the place of committing the crime to be, the site or locus delicti must be determined from the nature of the crime and the location of the acts or omissions constituting the offense." U.S. v. Clinton, 574 F.2d 464, 465 (9th Cir. 1978).

25      (LOCUS DELICTI, Black's Law Dictionary (11th ed. 2019))

26      <sup>4</sup>Vicinage. Neighborhood; near dwelling; vicinity. In modern usage, it means the county or particular area where a trial is had, a crime committed, etc. At common law, accused had the right to be tried by, jury of the neighborhood or "vicinage," which was interpreted to mean the county where the crime was committed. People v. Goldswehr, 39

10 error fails to meet the mandates by the Peoples' legislature the Defendant must be released 11 forthwith.

12 For instance, if the items seized at the time of arrest and in the subsequent search were 13 seized without a search warrant, or the search warrant was fraudulently obtained or materially 14 defective, the evidence taken was illegal and must be suppressed.

15 For instance, if the Grand Jury was not drawn in the proper vicinage or venue, the 16 INDICTMENT fails, and the Defendant in error must be released forthwith.

20 <sup>5</sup>Venue. (ven-yoo) [Law French "coming"] (16c) Procedure. 1. The proper or a possible place for a lawsuit to 21 proceed, usu. because the place has some connection either with the events that gave rise to the lawsuit or with the plaintiff or defendant. 2. The territory, such as a country or other political subdivision, over which a trial court has jurisdiction. — Also termed (in senses 1 & 2) proper venue. Cf. JURISDICTION. (VENUE, Black's Law Dictionary (11th ed. 2019))

23 For purposes of the rule that venue lies in the county or place where the cause of action arose or accrued, that location is determined by the presence of the requisite elements of the cause of action or the place where a substantial part of the events giving rise to the claim occurred.

25 For purposes of the rule that venue lies in the county or place where the cause of action arose or accrued,<sup>1</sup> that location is determined by the presence of the requisite elements of the cause of action,<sup>2</sup> and the place where a substantial part of the events giving rise to the claim occurred,<sup>3</sup> excluding events or omissions that might only have some tangential connection with the dispute in litigation.<sup>4</sup> A claim may be deemed to have accrued where the last event necessary to make the defendant liable took place,<sup>5</sup> the place where the plaintiff first suffered injury,<sup>6</sup> or the place where damages were inflicted<sup>7</sup> or sustained.<sup>8</sup>

26

27 A cause of action may be said to accrue, within the meaning of a statute fixing the venue of actions, when it comes into existence as an enforceable claim, that is, when the right to sue becomes vested.<sup>9</sup>

8 For instance, if the Grand Jury was not actually sworn and drawn or there never was a 9 Grand with witnesses sworn before the Grand Jury, the INDICTMENT is a fraud on the Court.

10 An indictment can be dismissed on multiple grounds including but not limited to:

11 (a) Pleadings. The pleadings in a criminal proceeding are the indictment, the 12 information, and the pleas of not guilty, guilty, and nolo contendere.

13 (b) Pretrial Motions.

14 (1) In General. A party may raise by pretrial motion any defense, objection, or 15 request that the court can determine without a trial on the merits. Rule 47 applies 16 to a pretrial motion.

17 (2) Motions That May Be Made at Any Time. A motion that the court lacks 18 jurisdiction may be made at any time while the case is pending.

19 (3) Motions That Must Be Made Before Trial. The following defenses, objections, 20 and requests must be raised by pretrial motion if the basis for the motion is then 21 reasonably available and the motion can be determined without a trial on the 22 merits:

23 (A) a defect in instituting the prosecution, including:

24 (i) improper venue<sup>[51]</sup>;

25 (ii) pre indictment delay;

26 (iii) a violation of the constitutional right to a speedy trial;

27 (iv) selective or vindictive prosecution; and 28 (v) an error in the grand-jury proceeding or preliminary hearing;

29 (B) a defect in the indictment or information, including:

30 (i) joining two or more offenses in the same count (duplicity);

31 (ii) charging the same offense in more than one count (multiplicity);

1 (iii) lack of specificity;

2 (iv) improper joinder; and

3 (v) failure to state an offense;

4 (C) suppression of evidence;

5 (D) severance of charges or defendants under Rule 14; and 6 (E) discovery under Rule 16.

7 (4) Notice of the Government's Intent to Use Evidence.

8 (A) At the Government's Discretion. At the arraignment or as soon afterward as 9 practicable, the government may notify the defendant of its intent to use specified evidence at trial in order to afford the defendant an opportunity to object before trial under Rule 12(b)(3)(C).

10 (B) At the Defendant's Request. At the arraignment or as soon afterward as 11 practicable, the defendant may, in order to have an opportunity to move to 12 suppress evidence under Rule 12(b)(3)(C), request notice of the government's intent to use (in its evidence-in-chief at trial) any evidence that the defendant may be entitled to discover under Rule 16.

13 (c) Deadline for a Pretrial Motion; Consequences of Not Making a Timely 14 Motion.

15 (1) Setting the Deadline. The court may, at the arraignment or as soon afterward 16 as practicable, set a deadline for the parties to make pretrial motions and may also schedule a motion hearing. If the court does not set one, the deadline is the start of trial.

17 (2) Extending or Resetting the Deadline. At any time before trial, the court may 18 extend or reset the deadline for pretrial motions.

19 (3) Consequences of Not Making a Timely Motion Under Rule 12(b)(3). If a party 20 does not meet the deadline for making a Rule 12(b)(3) motion, the motion is untimely. But a court may consider the defense, objection, or request if the party shows good cause.

21 (d) Ruling on a Motion. The court must decide every pretrial motion before trial 22 unless it finds good cause to defer a ruling. The court must not defer ruling on a pretrial motion if the deferral will adversely affect a party's right to appeal. When factual issues are involved in deciding a motion, the court must state its essential findings on the record.

24 (e) [Reserved]

25 (f) Recording the Proceedings. All proceedings at a motion hearing, including any 26 findings of fact and conclusions of law made orally by the court, must be recorded by a court reporter or a suitable recording device.

27 (g) Defendant's Continued Custody or Release Status. If the court grants a motion 28 to dismiss based on a defect in instituting the prosecution, in the indictment, or in the information, it may order the defendant to be released or detained under 18

1 U.S.C. § 3142 for a specified time until a new indictment or information is filed.
2 This rule does not affect any federal statutory period of limitations.

3 (h) Producing Statements at a Suppression Hearing. Rule 26.2 applies at a 4 suppression hearing under Rule 12(b)(3)(C). At a suppression hearing, a law
5 enforcement officer is considered a government witness.

6 (Fed. R. Crim. P. 12)

7 Further, the prosecutor is reminded of the FRCrP § 5(f):

8 (f) Reminder of Prosecutorial Obligation.

9 (1) In General. In all criminal proceedings, on the first scheduled court date when 10 both prosecutor and defense counsel are present, the judge shall issue an oral and 11 written order to prosecution and defense counsel that confirms the disclosure 12 obligation of the prosecutor under Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963) and its 13 progeny, and the possible consequences of violating such order under applicable 14 law.

15 (2) Formation of Order. Each judicial council in which a district court is located
16 shall promulgate a model order for the purpose of paragraph (1) that the court 17 may use as it determines is appropriate.

***** ETHICAL STANDARDS FOR ATTORNEYS FOR THE GOVERNMENT *****

(a) An attorney for the Government shall be subject to State laws and rules, and local Federal court rules, governing attorneys in each State where such attorney engages in that attorney's duties, to the same extent and in the same manner as other attorneys in that State.

(b) The Attorney General shall make and amend rules of the Department of Justice to assure compliance with this section.

(c) As used in this section, the term "attorney for the Government" includes any attorney described in section 77.2(a) of part 77 of title 28 of the Code of Federal Regulations and also includes any independent counsel, or employee of such a counsel, appointed under chapter 40.

28 U.S.C.A. § 530B (West)

Therefore, as per Utah Rule 25(b) you are required to attend to the following:

The court shall dismiss the information or indictment when:

(1) There is unreasonable or unconstitutional delay in bringing defendant to trial;

<sup>6</sup>Fruit-of-the-poisonous-tree doctrine. (1948) Criminal procedure. The rule that evidence derived from an illegal search, arrest, or interrogation is inadmissible because the evidence (the "fruit") was tainted by the illegality (the "poisonous tree"). • Under this doctrine, for example, a murder weapon is inadmissible if the map showing its location and used to find it was seized during an illegal search. — Also termed fruits doctrine. See EXCLUSIONARY RULE; ATTENUATION DOCTRINE; INDEPENDENT-SOURCE RULE; INEVITABLE-DISCOVERY RULE. (FRUIT-OF-THE-POISONOUS-TREE DOCTRINE, Black's Law Dictionary (11th ed. 2019))

(2) The allegations of the information or indictment, together with any bill of particulars furnished in support thereof, do not constitute the offense intended to be charged in the pleading so filed;

(3) It appears that there was a substantial and prejudicial defect in the impaneling or in the proceedings relating to the grand jury;

(4) The court is without jurisdiction; or

(5) The prosecution is barred by the statute of limitations.

The material discovery items requested are material to the Defendant's defense in that the requested discovery may disclose pretrial evidence (or lead to discoverable pre-trial evidence) that would show defects in the prosecutor in error's case. The requested discovery may identify potential failures of the prosecutor to properly follow procedural safeguards, that were set into place to protect the defendant's due process rights. Further, procedural safeguards are intended to ferret out a false or vindictive prosecution or prosecution with those who have ulterior and corrupt motives.

1       Also, to avoid the de facto officer doctrine<sup>7</sup> as well as protection from an officer that has
2 exceeded or acts without any delegation of authority<sup>8</sup>.

3       

4       <sup>7</sup>Officer de facto. (di fak-toh) (18c) 1. An officer who exercises the duties of an office under color of an
5 appointment or election, but who has failed to qualify for office for any one of various reasons, as by being under 6 the required age, having failed to take the oath, having not furnished a required bond, or having taken office under a
7 statute later declared unconstitutional. 2. Corporations. Someone who is acting under color of right and with 8 apparent authority, but who is not legally a corporate officer. • The corporation is bound by all acts and contracts of 9 an officer de facto in the same way as it is with those of an officer de jure. — Also termed de facto officer.

10       <sup>8</sup>Officer de jure. (di joor-ee) (18c) 1. An officer who exercises the duties of an office for which the holder has 11 fulfilled all the qualifications. (OFFICER, Black's Law Dictionary (11th ed. 2019))

12       <sup>9</sup>De facto officer. One who, while in actual possession of the office, is not holding such in a manner prescribed by 13 law. Trost v. Tynatishon, 12 Ill.App.3d 406, 299 N.E.2d 14.

14       Whatever the form in which the Government functions, anyone entering into an arrangement with the Government
15 takes the risk of having accurately ascertained that he who purports to act for the Government stays within the 16 bounds of his authority. The scope of this authority may be explicitly defined by Congress or be limited by 17 delegated legislation, properly exercised through the rule-making power. And this is so even though, as here, the 18 agent himself may have been unaware of the limitations upon his authority. Federal Crop Insurance Corp. v.
19 Merrill, 322 U.S. 380, at 384; 68 S. Ct. 1; 92 L.Ed.10, (1947).

20       See also Continental Casualty Co. v. United States, 113 F.2d 284, 286 (5th Cir. 1940) ("Public officers are merely 21 the agents of the public, whose powers and authority are defined and limited by law. Any act without the scope of 22 the authority so defined does not bind the principal, and all persons dealing with such agents are charged with 23 knowledge of the extent of their authority").

24       Persons dealing with the government are charged with knowing government statutes and regulations and they 25 assume the risk that government agents may exceed their authority and provide misinformation. Lavin v. Marsh, 9th 26 Cir., 1981, 644 F. 2d 1378, 1383.

27       All persons in the United States are chargeable with the knowledge of the Statutes at Large and it is well 28 established that anyone who deals with the government assumes the risk that the agent acting in the government's behalf has exceeded the bounds of his authority. Bollow v. Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco, 9th Cir, 1981, 650 F.2d 1093. [Emphasis added]

1       <sup>8</sup>DELEGATION OF AUTHORITY

2       The necessity for a federal employee to have delegated authority to act manifests itself in cases under the Federal
3 Torts Claims Act (herein "FTCA"), 28 U.S.C. §1346(b). Under this law, the United States is liable for torts
4 committed by its employees if so committed within the scope of their employment. If the act in question was not
5 committed in the scope of employment, the employee is liable and the United States is not.

6       "There is also a general rule that if any officer- ministerial or otherwise- acts outside the scope of his jurisdiction and
7 without authorization of law, he is liable in an action for damages for injuries suffered by a citizen as a result
8 thereof." In Cooper v. O'Connor, 99 F.2d 135, 137, 138 (D.C. Cir. 1938)

9       <sup>24</sup>IMMUNITY DEPENDS UPON DELEGATED AUTHORITY!

10       When a citizen challenges the acts of a federal or state official as being illegal, that official cannot just simply avoid 11 liability based upon the fact that he is a public official. In United States v. Lee, 106 U.S. 196, 220, 221, 1 S.Ct. 240, 12 261 (1882), the United States claimed title to Arlington, Lee's estate, via a tax sale some years earlier, held to be 13 void by the Court. In so voiding the title of the United States, the Court declared:

14       "No man in this country is so high that he is above the law. No officer of the law may set that law at defiance with 15 impunity. All the officers of the government, from the highest to the lowest, are creatures of the law and are bound
16 to obey it. It is the only supreme power in our system of government, and every man who by accepting office

2 participates in its functions is only the more strongly bound to submit to that supremacy, and to observe the
3 limitations which it imposes upon the exercise of the authority which it gives.

4 "Shall it be said... that the courts cannot give remedy when the citizen has been deprived of his property by force, his
5 estate seized and converted to the use of the government without any lawful authority, without any process of law,
6 and without any compensation, because the president has ordered it and his officers are in possession? If such be the 7 law of this country, it sanctions a tyranny which has no existence in the monarchies of Europe, nor in any other
8 government which has a just claim to well-regulated liberty and the protection of personal rights."

9 In Pierce v. United States ("The Floyd Acceptances"), 7 Wall. (74 U.S.) 666, 677 (1869) ("We have no officers in 10 this government from the President down to the most subordinate agent, who does not hold office under the law, 11 with prescribed duties and limited authority")

12 Cunningham v. Macon, 109 U.S. 446, 452, 456, 3 S.Ct. 292, 297 (1883) ("In these cases he is not sued as, or because 13 he is, the officer of the government, but as an individual, and the court is not ousted of jurisdiction because he 14 asserts authority as such officer. To make out his defense he must show that his authority was sufficient in law to 15 protect him... It is no answer for the defendant to say I am an officer of the government and acted under its authority
16 unless he shows the sufficiency of that authority"); and Poindexter v. Greenhow, 114 U.S. 270, 287, 5 S.Ct. 903, 912
17 (1885), 114 U.S. 270, 287, 5 S.Ct. 903, 912 (1885).

18 Officer outside of their Jurisdiction personally liable! *

19 The necessity for a federal employee to have delegated authority to act not only is shown in the above cases, it also 20 manifests itself in cases under the Federal Torts Claims Act (herein "FTCA"), 28 U.S.C. §1346(b). Under this law, 21 the United States is liable for torts committed by its employees if so committed within the scope of their 22 employment. If the act in question was not committed in the scope of employment, the employee is liable and the 23 United States is not.

24 In Cooper v. O'Connor, 99 F.2d 135, 137, 138 (D.C. Cir. 1938), a banker was indicted, acquitted and then brought 25 suit for malicious prosecution against the agents who caused his indictment. Regarding the rule that agents acting 26 outside the scope of their authority are personally liable for their torts, the court stated:

27 "There is also a general rule that if any officer- ministerial or otherwise- acts outside the scope of his jurisdiction and
thereof."

29 In Reagan v. Farmers Loan & Trust Co., 154 U.S. 362, 390, 14 S.Ct. 1047, 1051, 1052 (1894), the Court declared:

30 "A tax law, as it leaves the legislative hands, may not be obnoxious to any challenge; and yet the officers charged
31 with the administration of that valid tax law may so act under it, in the matter of assessment or collection, as to work
32 an illegal trespass upon the property rights of the individual. They may go beyond the powers thereby conferred, and 33 when they do so the fact that they are assuming to act under a valid law will not oust the courts of jurisdiction to 34 restrain their excessive and illegal acts." See also Estrada v. Hills, 401 F.Supp. 429, 434 (N.D.Ill. 1975).

35 This rule that agents are personally liable for their acts outside the scope of their authority has not been modified or 36 changed in any way over the years. In Barr v. Matteo, 360 U.S. 564, 572, 79 S.Ct. 1335, 1340 (1959), the Court
37 stated that the immunity rules have always been subject to the "limitation upon that immunity that the official's act
38 must have been within the scope of his powers." In Doe v. McMillan, 412 U.S. 306, 320, 93 S.Ct. 2018, 2028
39 (1973), it was held that the "scope of immunity has always been tied to the scope of... authority."

40 "Public officers are merely the agents of the public, whose powers and authority are defined and limited by law. Any 41 act without the scope of the authority so defined does not bind the principal, and all persons dealing with such agents
42 are charged with knowledge of the extent of their authority". Continental Casualty Co. v. United States, 113 F.2d
43 284, 286 (5th Cir. 1940)

44 "Public officers possess only such authority as is conferred upon them by law and such authority must be exercised 45 in the manner provided by law" Phillips v. Fidalgo Island Packing Co., 238 F.2d 234 (9th Cir. 1956)

The necessity for a federal employee to have delegated authority to act manifests itself in cases under the Federal Torts Claims Act (herein "FTCA"), 28 U.S.C. §1346(b). Under this law, the United States is liable for torts committed by its employees if so committed within the scope of their employment. If the act in question was not committed in the scope of employment, the employee is liable and the United States is not. *

"Acting without statutory power at all, or misapplying one's statutory power, will result in a finding that such action was ultra vires" Outboard Marine Corp. v. Thomas, 610 F.Supp. 1234, 1242 (N.D. Ill. 1985)

"[A]n unlawful or unauthorized exercise of power does not become legitimated or authorized by reason of habitus" In re Benny, 29 B.R. 754, 762 (N.D. Cal. 1983)

"[W]hen an officer acts wholly outside the scope of the powers granted to him by statute or constitutional provision, the official's actions have been considered to be unauthorized" Ramirez de Arellano v. Weinberger, 745 F.2d 1500, 1523 (D.C. Cir. 1984)

If, however, the court determines that the conduct did violate a constitutional right, the second prong under Saucier requires the court to determine whether the violated right was "clearly established." A right is clearly established if the "contours of the right [are] sufficiently clear that a reasonable official would understand that what he is doing violates that right." Id. (citing Anderson v. Creighton, 483 U.S. 635, 640 (1987)).

"The extent of the authority of the people's public agents is measured by the statute from which they derive their authority, not by their own acts and assumption of authority". Sittler v. Board of Control of Michigan College of Mining and Technology, 333 Mich. 681, 53 N.W.2d 681, 684 (1952)

Express authority. Authority delegated to agent by words which expressly authorize him to do a delegable act. Authority which is directly granted to or conferred upon agent in express terms. That authority which principal intentionally confers upon his agent by manifestations to him. Epstein v. Corporacion Peruana de Vapores, D.C.N.Y., 325 F.Supp. 535, 537.

That which confers power to do a particular identical thing set forth and declared exactly, plainly, and directly with well-defined limits. An authority given in direct terms, definitely and explicitly, and not left to inference or implication, as distinguished from authority which is general, implied, or not directly stated or given. (Black's Law Dictionary, 6th ed., (1990) at pg. 581, col. 1)

1        "There is also a general rule that if any officer- ministerial or otherwise- acts outside the 2 scope of his jurisdiction and without authorization of law, he is liable in an action for damages
3 for injuries suffered by a citizen as a result thereof." In Cooper v. O'Connor, 99 F.2d 135, 137,
4 138 (D.C. Cir. 1938)

5 IMMUNITY DEPENDS UPON DELEGATED AUTHORITY!

6        When a citizen challenges the acts of a federal or state official as being illegal, that 7 official cannot just simply avoid liability based upon the fact that he is a public official. In 8 United States v. Lee, 106 U.S. 196, 220, 221, 1 S.Ct. 240, 261 (1882), the United States claimed 9 title to Arlington, Lee's estate, via a tax sale some years earlier, held to be void by the Court. In 10 so voiding the title of the United States, the Court declared:

11        "No man in this country is so high that he is above the law. No officer of the law may set 12 that law at defiance with impunity. All the officers of the government, from the highest to the 13 lowest, are creatures of the law and are bound to obey it. It is the only supreme power in our 14 system of government, and every man who by accepting office participates in its functions is 15 only the more strongly bound to submit to that supremacy, and to observe the limitations which 16 it imposes upon the exercise of the authority which it gives.

17        "Shall it be said... that the courts cannot give remedy when the citizen has been deprived 18 of his property by force, his estate seized and converted to the use of the government without any 19 lawful authority, without any process of law, and without any compensation, because the 20 president has ordered it and his officers are in possession? If such be the law of this country, it
21 sanctions a tyranny which has no existence in the monarchies of Europe, nor in any other 22 government which has a just claim to well-regulated liberty and the protection of personal 23 rights." In Pierce v. United States ("The Floyd Acceptances"), 7 Wall. (74 U.S.) 666, 677 24 (1869) ("We have no officers in this government from the President down to the most 25 subordinate agent, who does not hold office under the law, with prescribed duties and 26 limited authority") [Emphasis added]

6       Cunningham v. Macon, 109 U.S. 446, 452, 456, 3 S.Ct. 292, 297 (1883) ("In these cases
7 he is not sued as, or because he is, the officer of the government, but as an individual, and the 8 court is not ousted of jurisdiction because he asserts authority as such officer. To make out his 9 defense he must show that his authority was sufficient in law to protect him... It is no answer for 10 the defendant to say I am an officer of the government and acted under its authority unless he 11 shows the sufficiency of that authority"); and Poindexter v. Greenhow, 114 U.S. 270, 287, 5 12 S.Ct. 903, 912 (1885)., 114 U.S. 270, 287, 5 S.Ct. 903, 912 (1885).

13       Thus, an Officer outside of their Jurisdiction may be personally liable!

14       The necessity for a federal employee to have delegated authority to act is not only shown 15 in the above cases, it also manifests itself in cases under the Federal Torts Claims Act (herein
